evangelization is proclamation to all people and cultures of the good news who is jesus christ through the power of the holy spirit the gospel message goes out both to christians alienated from the church evangelism and to non christians missions it consists also in witness given by the christians in inculturation and in dialogue with people the history of catholic in china particularly in the guangzhou archdiocese showed us that the laity taught the catechesis and supported each other when the clergy were expelled suppressed or state controlled the laity kept the faith and taught their children during these times of anticlericalism and of persecution in recent years some of the laity has been awakened to respond to the evangelizing mission of the church however the researcher shows a lack of the laity's share of participation leadership and decision making roles this thesis presents and reflects on the new concept of mission of evangelization of the laity in the light of vatican ii lumen gentium brings out its significance its identity and its mission from pastoral and theological viewpoints the council positively affirms and analyzes the role of the laity its dignity in the ecclesial communion this idea was further developed in apostolicam actuositatem which augmented many elements of the laity's apostolic work moreover the second part of gaudium et spes and christifideles laici discussed the importance of the role of the laity in the church in the society and in the world and offered concrete ways for the laity to actively and responsibly fulfill their mission this study shows that the proclamation of jesus christ is the centre and primary element of evangelization the role of christian life is to make jesus christ present to the world through personal witness thus the laity's vocation and charism as to follow jesus closely and imitate his example and to continue his three fold mission as prophet priest and king today the laity of guangzhou archdiocese lives out their spirituality in the midst of society and witness through service to others according to their diverse charisms this study is designed to explore effective ways of transmitting the good news at the different levels of society are the most available ones to communicate with the cultures religions and peoples in the archdiocese the laity have an important role to play in the mission of the church because they form the majority and there are many signs that the spirit is empowering them for greater roles of service and leadership in the twenty first century which is called age of the laity through our baptism all of us are called as disciples of jesus christ to go therefore and make disciples of all nations mt 28 19 as a community of disciples we can and must share the gospel with those who haven't received the good news go and make disciples provides a clear roadmap for evangelization in today's world written for all catholics not just those in parish and evangelization ministry this book provides the faithful with a powerful instrument for opening wide the doors of christ in today's postmodern culture many people are turning to religion but they are not necessarily finding their way back to the church most unbelievers in america and other western countries are post christians though baptized and brought up in a church they no longer believe and practice the christian faith in such a time the great challenge facing the church is re evangelization this volume provides serious theological reflection on christian missions within postmodern post christian culture written by respected scholars representing the catholic protestant and orthodox traditions these chapters point out elements of the gospel that will help the church speak effectively to contemporary society particularly in the united states john milbank examines the origins of postmodernity and suggests that belief in the incarnation will be accepted only when the church fully embraces hetero sexuality robert w jenson insists that the church must boldly uphold its distinctive beliefs in an otherwise pluralistic and relativistic age david l schindler argues that our reductionist view of nature must be replaced with one that again sees god s presence in the world r r reno compares postmodernism s negation of truth claims to the weightless humanism of the roman writer petronius philip turner maintains that christians can effectively persuade others today only through their actions anthony ugnolnik believes that the gospel must now be de familiarized in order to make it fresh once more todd e johnson traces the history of evangelism in america and locates a valid model for our time frank c senn questions the rise of the seeker service defending instead a traditional liturgy that emphasizes the trinity carl e braaten works to recover the full power of the church s missionary calling suggesting startling approaches to christian proclamation this volume shows how the strange new word of the gospel can reawaken faith in the postmodern world in this pioneering work dr pope levison marshalls an enormous amount of material on the topic of evangelization in latin american liberation theology by analyzing the writings of ten theologians she demonstrates convincingly that evangelization serves uniquely as a bridge between theology and praxis this study is indispensable for students of contextual theology and evangelization in addition the introductory discussion of evangelization in recent documents from the roman catholic church and the world council of churches renders this an invaluable tool for ecumenical studies as well religious freedom and evangelization in latin america provides an indispensable resource for understanding the range of issues confronting the continent offering catholic as well as protestant perspectives and trenchant analyses of the situation in different countries including brazil argentina mexico nicaragua and cuba book jacket even more timely than when it first appeared this bilingual tenth anniversary edition provides the faithful with a powerful instrument for opening wide the doors of christ includes section reviews of recent theological literature the second vatican council endorsed an engagement with the modern and secularized world through a renewed proclamation of the gospel john paul ii described this as the new evangelization and in 2010 benedict xvi confirmed this priority by creating the pontifical council for promoting the new evangelization to re propose the perennial truth of the gospel the new evangelization was the subject of the synod of bishops in 2012 and in 2014 pope francis gave his reflections on the topic in evangelii gaudium the new evangelization draws on material presented and discussed at the conference vatican ii 50 years on the new evangelization organised by leeds trinity university on 26 29th june 2012 part i traces the historical and theological links between the council and the new evangelization part ii examines the renewed understanding of the church as a result of the council and the extent to which it is shaped by civilization part iii analyzes the nature of the new evangelization and its outworking in today s multifarious context of cultures religions and societies part iv deals with the implementation of the new evangelization by different communities and organizations and the issues this raises in the introduction and conclusion the editors reflect on the new evangelization in the light of significant developments since 2012
