the swelling flows of migration from africa towards europe have aroused interest not only in the socio political consequences of the migrants insistent appeals to fortress europe but also in the artistic integration of african migrants into the cultural world of europe while in recent years the creative output of africans living in europe has received attention from the media and in academia little critical consideration has been given to african migrants modes of narration and the manner in which these modes give expression to or are an expression of their creators transcultural realities transcultural modernities narrating africa in europe responds to this need for reflection by examining the manner in which migrants compose and negotiate their euro african affiliations in their narratives the book brings together scholars in the fields of literary and art criticism cultural studies and anthropology for an extensive interdisciplinary exchange on the specific modes of narration displayed in euro african literatures the visual arts and cinema as well as offering ethnographic case studies the result is a wide range of reflections on how african artists writers and ordinary people living in europe experience and explore their transcultural and or postcolonial environments and how their experiences and explorations in turn contribute to the construction of modern euro african life worlds investigating identities questions of identity in contemporary international crime fiction is one of the relatively few books to date which adopts a comparative approach to the study of the genre this collection of twenty essays by international scholars examining crime fiction production from over a dozen countries confirms that a comparative approach can both shed light on processes of adaptation and appropriation of the genre within specific national regional or local contexts and also uncover similarities between the works of authors from very different areas contributors explore discourse concerning national and historical memory language race ethnicity culture and gender and examine how identity is affirmed and challenged in the crime genre today they reveal a growing tendency towards hybridization and postmodern experimentation and increasing engagement with philosophical enquiry into the epistemological dimensions of investigation throughout the notion of stable identities is subject to scrutiny while each essay in itself is a valuable addition to existing criticism on the genre all the chapters mutually inform and complement each other in fascinating and often unexpected ways this volume makes an important contribution to the growing field of crime fiction studies and to ongoing debates on questions of identity it will therefore be of special interest to students and scholars of the crime genre identity studies and comparative literature it will also appeal to all who enjoy reading contemporary crime fiction
