this book focuses on the complex ways in which architectural practice theory patronage and experience became modern with the rise of a mass public and a reconfigured public sphere between the end of the seventeenth century and the french revolution presenting a fresh theoretical orientation and a large body of new primary research this book offers a new cultural history of virtually all the major monuments of eighteenth century parisian architecture with detailed analyses of the public debates that erupted around such parisian monuments as the east facade of the louvre the place louis xv the place de la concorde and the church of sainte genevieve the pantheon depicting the passage of architecture into a mediatized public culture as a turning point and interrogating it as a symptom of the distinctly modern configuration of individual society and space that emerged during this period this study will interest readers well beyond the discipline of architectural history this book addresses critical gaps in existing biographies of nelson algren providing new perspectives on his writing style literary contributions professional colleagues and personal life especially his relationship with simone de beauvoir although beauvoir maintained a simultaneous relationship with philosopher jean paul sartre the correspondence exchanged between beauvoir algren and sartre as this book discusses sheds new light on her transatlantic love affair with algren moreover this work challenges the assertion that algren s writing aligns seamlessly with the new journalism style popularized by tom wolfe it investigates how algren s literary legacy might have diverged had he embraced more of the principles associated with new journalism
