the objectives of the thinking crisis are to examine the reasons for the decline in the quality of student writing by what is taught and learned in high school to demonstrate the consequences of this decline by examining current student writing in college to compare this writing with student writing of twenty years ago to suggest ways in which this disconnection between what a teacher teaches and what a student needs to learn can be ameliorated we believe that this book is unique in its approach to problems that we see in student writing today in that it neither advocates nor rejects the present pedagogy in the schools but it argues that this pedagogy be properly implemented while many of the ideas advanced today for improving writing are sound they are often misinterpreted and poorly taught we also argue that the lowering of the level of student reading by the general abandonment of classic texts in the curriculum has contributed to the decline in thinking reading and writing
