h daniel zacharias presents a literary critical analysis of the gospel of matthew and its interaction with davidic tradition and use of davidic typology throughout the narrative the evangelist makes pervasive use of davidic tradition from the old testament in his portrayal of jesus this begins from the first verse and the declaration that jesus is the son of david and culminates in jesus usage of psalm 22 s davidic lament on the cross davidic material is present throughout matthew in allusion in specific citations in thematic material in addition matthew makes use of davidic typology numerous times with david as type and jesus as anti type zacharias shows how the use of davidic material presents to the reader a scripturally grounded redefinition of what it means for jesus to be the son of david not as a violent militant leader as some expected but as a physical descendant of david a healing shepherd and a humble king within the gospel matthew utilizes davidic typology to show how the son of david even has similar experiences as his royal predecessor even david s own words from the psalms are utilized as testimony to the legitimacy of jesus as the davidic messiah
