for the few hundred television viewers in 1946 a special treat on the broadcast schedule was the variety show called hour glass it was the first tv program to go beyond talking heads cooking demonstrations and sporting events featuring instead dancers comics singers and long commercials for its sponsor chase and sanborn coffee within two years another variety show texaco star theatre became the first true television hit and would be credited with the sales of thousands of television sets the variety show formula was a staple of television in its first 30 years in part because it lent itself to a medium where everything had to be live and preferably inside a studio most of the early television stars including jackie gleason milton berle sid caesar ed sullivan red skelton dinah shore and arthur godfrey rose to prominence through weekly variety shows in the 1960s major stars such as jerry lewis dean martin judy garland and danny kaye were hosting variety shows by the 1970s the format was giving way to sitcoms and dramas but pop music stars sonny and cher tony orlando and dawn and donny and marie osmond hosted some of the last of the species this book details 57 variety shows from the 1940s through the 1990s a history of each show is first provided followed by a brief look at each episode air date guest stars sketches performed and a listing of songs featured are included this book contributes to the ongoing debate in ir on the role of security communities and formulates a new mechanism based analytical framework it argues that the question we need to ask is how security communities work at a time when armed conflicts among states have become significantly less frequent compared to other non military threats and trans boundary risks e g terrorism and the adverse effects of climate change drawing upon recent advances in practice theory the book suggests that the emergence and spread of cooperative security practices ranging from multilateral diplomacy to crisis management are as important for understanding how security communities work as more traditional confidence building measures using the eu spain and morocco as an in depth case study this volume reveals that through the institutionalization of multilateral venues the eu has provided cooperative frameworks that otherwise would not have been available and that the de territorialized notion of security threats has created a new rationale for practical cooperation between spanish and moroccan diplomats armed forces and civilian authorities within the broader context this book provides a mechanism based framework for studying regional organizations as security community building institutions and by utilizing that framework it shows how practice theory can be applied in empirical research to generate novel and thought provoking results of relevance for the broader field of ir this book will be of much interest to students of multilateral diplomacy european politics foreign policy security studies and ir in general in recent years the historiography of nineteenth century spain and latin america has been invigorated by interdisciplinary engagement with scholars working on topics such as empire slavery abolition race identity and captivity no scholar better exemplified these developments than christopher schmidt nowara a specialist on spain and its caribbean colonies in cuba and puerto rico a brilliant career was cut short in 2015 when he died at the age of 48 rethinking atlantic empire takes schmidt nowara s work as a point of departure charting scholarly paths that move past reductive national narratives and embrace transnational approaches to the entangled empires of the atlantic world describes in detail how privateers buccaneers and pirates plied their trade during the piracy s golden age
